

Dan Goodstein

ESC Consultant Since: 2006

Education:

M.B.A., Columbia University

B.A., English Literature, Hamilton College

AREAS OF EXPERTISE: Accounting and finance, strategic planning, board development

PRIVATE SECTOR PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE: Dan has over 40 years of experience as a former Certified Public Accountant for Ernst & Young. His field of concentration was reporting on financial statements and internal controls, as well as providing consulting services to manufacturing, retail and nonprofit clients. Following his retirement, he consulted on financial and strategic planning matters for public and private companies and served on the boards of two public companies.

Dan's extensive experience in accounting matters led to his memberships on the Governing Council of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, the Board of Directors of the California Society of Certified Public Accountants and the Board of Trustees of the California Certified Public Accountants Education Foundation.

NONPROFIT VOLUNTEER EXPERIENCE: In addition to his work at Ernst & Young consulting for nonprofit organizations, Dan has served on the boards of an arts agency, community centers and homes for the aging, among others. Dan has also lent his expertise to ESC by conducting internal evaluations of ESC's projects.
